

The development of an EMN on Medical Devices

The new European metrology Network (EMN) on Medical Devices, aims to bring together experts from different stakeholders like Regulators, Notified Bodies, R&D, Innovations, MD manufacturers, National Metrology Institutes and Universities, to foster European cooperation in setting the quality standards in metrology perspective of medical devices (either with measuring function and those dependent on measuring function) and according to Regulation 2017/745 (MDR) expectations.