Breve CV: Having graduated as a chemical engineer from the National Technical University of Athens and holding an MSc in Architectural Conservation from the University of Edinburgh, I am currently working in the EU-funded AURORA project, researching innovative nanotechnology-based chemical markers for anticounterfeiting and cultural heritage protection.